

Security Issues in Libraries, Museums, and Archives

North Carolina Preservation Consortium Annual Conference

March 28, 2001      8:30 am - 4:00 pm

North Carolina Museum of Art
2110 Blue Ridge Road
Raleigh, NC

The North Carolina Preservation Consortium invites you and your colleagues to attend our annual conference. This year we will address our duty to protect North Carolina cultural collections from theft, destruction, and mutilation. Speakers will discuss the fundamental elements of collection security planning, policies, and procedures, with effective preventative strategies and responsible institutional action following theft or vandalism.

Morning refreshments will be served at 8:30 am. The NCPA Business meeting will commence at 9:00 and presentations will begin at 9:30. Registration is $25 for employees of NCPA member institutions and $35 for nonmembers.

Payment includes a buffet lunch in the NC Museum of Art. Registration forms may be printed from this web site ...

<http://www.trln.org/securityreg.pdf>

Presentations ...

ALA Library Security Guidelines

Henry DuBois is Associate Dean of the California State University Library in Long Beach and is a representative for the Security Guidelines Subcommittee of the ALA BES Safety & Security of Library Buildings Committee. The guidelines are available on the ALA web site

<http://www.ala.org/lama/committees/bes/sslbguidelines.html>

Establishing security guidelines for libraries and theft follow-up

Linda McCurdy is Director of Research Services in the Rare Book, Manuscript, and Special Collections Library at Duke University.

Legal aspects of library security

Thomas M. Steele is Professor of Law at the Wake Forest University School of Law.

Daily living with museum security

Mike Dougherty is Security Director at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

For additional information contact,

Robert James, NCPC President