Document Retention and Destruction Policy

I. Purpose

In accordance with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, which makes it a crime to alter, cover up, falsify, or destroy any document with the intent of impeding or obstructing any official proceeding, this policy provides for the systematic review, retention and destruction of documents received or created by the North Carolina Preservation Consortium in connection with the transaction of the organization’s business. This policy:

- Covers all records and documents, regardless of physical form
- Contains guidelines for how long certain documents should be kept, and how records should be destroyed
- Specifies the position of the person(s) charged with overseeing that the policy is enforced

III. Electronic Documents and Records

Electronic documents will be retained as if they were paper documents. Therefore, any electronic files, including records of donations made online, that fall into one of the document types on the above schedule will be maintained for the appropriate amount of time. If a user has sufficient reason to keep an email message, the message should be printed in hard copy and kept in the appropriate file or moved to an “archive” computer file folder. Backup and recovery methods will be tested on a regular basis.

IV. Emergency Planning

The North Carolina Preservation Consortium’s records will be stored in a safe, secure and accessible manner. Documents and financial files that are essential to keeping the North Carolina Preservation Consortium operating in an emergency will be duplicated or backed up regularly.

V. Document Destruction

The North Carolina Preservation Consortium’s Executive Director is responsible for the ongoing process of identifying its records that have met the required retention period and overseeing their destruction. Destruction of financial and personnel-related documents will be accomplished by shredding. If the Executive Director is not able to carry out this responsibility, the President and Secretary will do so.

Document destruction will be suspended immediately upon any indication of an official investigation or when a lawsuit is filed or appears imminent. Destruction will be reinstated upon conclusion of the investigation.

VI. Compliance

Failure on the part of employees, staff, volunteers, or members of the North Carolina Preservation Consortium Board of Directors to follow this policy can result in possible civil and criminal sanctions against North Carolina Preservation Consortium and possible disciplinary action against responsible individuals. The Executive Director and the Finance Committee Chair will periodically review these procedures to ensure that they are in compliance with new or revised regulations.

Approved by the NCPC Board of Directors on May 19, 2017.

Updated February 9, 2018 (approved). [removed workshop/conference handouts; removed Sales Tax Exemption letter; added/amended items in italics]

Notes:

The Duke University Archivist helped a great deal in developing this document. In consultation with the Duke University Archivist:

- We do not need to keep registration information beyond what we need for business purposes. These are now listed with a three-year retention.*
- We do not need to keep handouts from conferences, only keep agendas, speaker information, etc.*
